

RECORD WHAT YOU READ

Name _____

Date _____

Name of newspaper _____

Article headline _____

Article byline (who wrote it?) _____

What is this article about? _____

In which section of the paper did you find this article? _____

Were the Five Ws of newspaper reporting included? _____

Who is the article about? _____

What is the article about? _____

Where did the topic of the article take place? _____

When did it take place? _____

Why or how did this thing happen? _____

Does this article state an opinion? _____ If yes, what is it? _____

What did you learn from reading this article? _____

DETAIL CHART

Name _____

Date _____

Your newspaper story is made up of many details that support a main idea. Most articles are written in the inverted pyramid style—facts and information are stated in order of importance, beginning with the headline. This enables people to scan the newspaper by reading a headline, subhead, or lead paragraph to get important points quickly. Readers continue if the topic is of interest.

Write the lead sentence of your article in the box below. Then write supporting details in the other boxes.

Lead Sentence

Supporting Details

